

The Russian Bears Motorsport team will race the 24 hours of Barcelona.

The Russian team, present for the first time in international competitions, has set high standards for itself. During the 2012 season, it has regularly raced in the FIA GT3 European Championship, with two Ferrari 458 GT3, and it has participated in some meetings of the Spanish Endurance Cup with a Seat Leon Supercopa. Furthermore, to top up a very dynamic season, it will place a Ferrari and a Seat Leon at the starting grid of the 24 hours of Barcelona-Fermí Vélez Trophy. This endurance race, one of the most charismatic of the year, will take place in the Circuit de Catalunya on the 8th and 9th of September.

As it has been stated, there will be two teams racing for the Russian Bears Motorsport team, which means a total of ten drivers. Thus, Miguel Toril, Dmitry Samorukov, Boris Rotenberg, Maurizio Mediani and Sergey Zlobin will drive in turns the Ferrari (number 4) and Viacheslav Maleev, Mikhail Maleev, Kiril Ladygin, Pol Rosell and Joan Vinyes will all race the Seat Leon Supercopa (number 32).

The Russian Bears Motorsport team together with the mechanics of Baporo Motorsport, in charge of the vehicles during the race, will arrive at the Catalan track on the 6th of September to start training. The race will begin at 12p.m. on
